

The Nurses' Health Study 3 is seeking participants for an ongoing, fully online, public health research study.

The Nurses' Health Study 3 is a research study of nurses and nursing students.

Our mission is to advance scientific discovery that addresses crucial and evolving public health issues while engaging with a diverse population at the forefront of healthcare and research. We are committed to generating knowledge that improves the health and well-being of our participants and populations worldwide.

Join and make a difference!

Since 1976, the Nurses' Health Studies have generated groundbreaking research, making meaningful contributions to health and medicine. And there's still much more to learn! Your participation will expand our understanding of many topics including:

- Reproductive Health, Pregnancy & Fertility
- Social Determinants of Health
- Biological Mechanisms of Health
- Occupational & Environmental Health
- Nutrition, Physical Activity & Sleep
- Cancer, Heart Disease & Other Chronic Diseases

Who can join?

No matter your life or health history, we want to learn from you. Your voice matters!

You are eligible if you are:

- A nurse or nursing student of any gender
- Age 18+ and born in 1965 or later
- Living in the US or Canada

Nurses, this is your study!

By completing two online questionnaires a year, you will belong to a group of nurses dedicated to scientific discovery and improving public health.
